6 G

Teeny Simmons

From: Teeny Simmons <teeny@lsbae.brcoxmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 02, 2012 12:26 PM
To: 'Jim Huggins'
Subject: RE: Continuing Ed Rquirements / Jim Huggins / rollover

Thanks Jim .. I'll ask the board on the 16th and will get back to you ..

From: Jim Huggins [mailto:jhuggins@livelyengineers.com]
Sent: Friday, March 02, 2012 8:47 AM
To: 'Teeny Simmons'
Subject: Continuing Ed Rquirements

Teeny,

I have a question. I completed 20 hours of CE in 2011. After meeting the required 8 hours for my 2012 renewal, I have 8 hours leftover. Will I be able to use these 8 hours as part of the 2013 required hours or will I lose them? I had planned to attend the LES seminar in Baton Rouge (see attached) but if I can use the 8 hours, I will only need four more. I'm a one-man firm and really don't have the time to spend going to Baton Rouge. Help!

Jim Huggins

Teeny Simmons

From: Teeny Simmons <teeny@lsbae.brcoxmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 02, 2012 12:31 PM
To: 'Jim Huggins'
Subject: RE: CE Credits / huggins / possible online course

Jim - sorry my email has been down .. I pulled and answered the latest email about continuing education and seminar in baton rouge, I'll also present this question (which I guess relates directly to board's decision on rollover) .. will let you know.

From: Jim Huggins [mailto:jhuggins@livelyengineers.com]
Sent: Thursday, March 01, 2012 3:37 PM
To: 'Teeny Simmons'
Subject: CE Credits

Teeny,

Question: I have 20 CE hours completed in 2011 for the 2012 renewal of my license. Am I correct in that the 8 remaining hours will be lost and cannot be used for my 2013 renewal. I'm thinking about taking the 8 hour LES Seminar, " Life Safety Codes" taught by Robert Miller, I need to know if I can satisfy the 2013 requirements for 12 hours by taking an on-line course for 4 hours, or if I now need a full 12 hours to satisfy the requirements?

Thanks for your help.

Jim Huggins