ANTITRUST PREAMBLE

We are here to discuss and act on matters relating to the business of the Louisiana Automobile Insurance Plan and not to discuss or pursue the business interests of our individual companies. We should proceed with caution and alertness towards the requirements and prohibitions of federal and state antitrust laws. We should not engage in discussion - either at this meeting or in private conversations - of our individual company's plans or contemplated activities. We should concern ourselves only with the business of the Louisiana Automobile Insurance Plan as set forth in the agenda for this meeting. Only residual market matters may be discussed at residual market meetings and each company's voluntary market plans cannot be discussed.

We may not discuss the circumstances, conditions or actions under which our individual companies will withdraw from particular lines of coverage in this state, or will withdraw as servicing carriers for this Plan. We may not discuss or agree to refuse to supply servicing carrier services to the Plan or agree to withdraw other services, products, or lines of business. We also may not discuss or agree to refuse to do business with individual or classes of insurers, producers, brokers or insureds, unless clearly authorized and actively supervised by the state.
